ANNUAL GIVING REPORT

Central Coast Humane Society

Central Coast Humane Society was formed in 1974 to benefit the welfare of animals in Lincoln County. They work with the animals in the community to keep them in loving homes and out of the shelter system when possible. They coordinate closely with the Lincoln County Animal Shelter and provide a good alternative to help animals when other options aren't available.

Their core mission is to spay or neuter both family pets and community cats. CCHS also helps with expenses for animal veterinary care, including dental costs, rabies vaccinations, emergency visits and end-of-life decisions. They offer humane education to school children and community groups. CCHS offers a free rehoming service by posting on our website, Facebook page and Petfinder.com photos and a short bio of animals needing a new home. To find more information on Central Coast Humane Society please visit their website www.centralcoasthumanesociety.com or give them a call at (541) 265-3719.

In 2016, the CPI Charitable Trust awarded $17,337.60 in grants, thanks to CPI members and employees who give to the trust through our Operation Round Up program.

Since its launch in 1993, the trust has awarded $325,287 to nonprofit organizations providing assistance throughout CPI's six county service territory.
